CHA Earns National Recognition as a Hospital Leader

One of the top 10 hospitals in the nation for Health Equity, and #1 in Massachusetts for Community Benefit

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Cambridge Health Alliance (CHA), a community health system serving Boston's metro-north communities, has received national recognition from the Lown Institute, a nonpartisan healthcare think tank. CHA was named one of the top ten hospitals in the nation for Health Equity, for programs and actions that give everyone the opportunity to live a healthy life, and the number one hospital in Massachusetts (with an A grade) for Community Benefit, which looks at spending on charity care and community investments.
